

Devon Collins

Assistant Director of Business and Entrepreneurial at UNC Charlotte's Charlotte Research Institute

Areas of Expertise:

Science and Technology Commercialization
University Research Partnerships
Entrepreneurship and Startups
New Product Prototyping

Devin Collins is Assistant Director of Business and Entrepreneurial at UNC Charlotte's Charlotte Research Institute and is responsible for accelerating technology commercialization and collaborations with industry, government and academia. Mr. Collins manages the Charlotte Venture Challenge Startup Competition. Previously, Mr. Collins founded two early-stage high growth companies and worked on foreign direct investment projects internationally.

Mr. Collins received his undergraduate degree from Babson College and his master's degree from American University.

